

I want to remind the FCC that independent media makes the best sense. Consider journalism like "Democracy Now" (Amy Goodman). The alternative perspectives are much needed, and were initially, the goals of the legislation bringing about Public Radio (NPR).

Please allow independent radio shows, televsion, and non profit sector journalisms. There are already, far too many corporate oriented media products. Limit the influence, please, of the gigantic corporate media; for the sake of journalism, and an informed citizenry and public.

Sincerely,
Laurence Ebersole
